

CAMP MEETING.

The Grounds Were Crowded With Visitors Sunday and the

SEVERAL STIRRING SERVICES

Were Thoroughly Enjoyed by all. Drs. Yocum, J. W. Hill and J. Wesley Hill Preached the Principal Sermons of the Day—The Weather all that Could be Desired, Aside from Heat and Dust.

Aside from the intense heat and the dust the weather at the camp meeting grounds, yesterday was all that could be desired. Very early the country people began to come in wagons and carriages, while every motor brought its quota of living freight. Nearly every cottage was full, while the capacity of the hotel was taxed to its utmost to accommodate the guests.

At 10:30 a. m. Dr. Ezra Yocum, of Harrisburg, preached, from the words: "Therefore, let no man glory in men; for all things are yours." He said, in part: "A careful reading of Paul's letter to the Philippians will show that the apostle had two objects in writing to the struggling church at Philippi. First, to correct existing vices and sins. Second, to put a new inspiration or encouragement into the minds of those unskilled believers. To inspire the discouraged, etc. The speaker said he would like to hide behind the message he brings and inspire all who heard him to nobler deeds in the Christian life. The words were not figurative, not hyperbole, not exaggeration, but plain, actual truth. The speaker then showed by numerous examples that all things are ours, if we are Christ's. These illustrations were drawn from things that all could understand, and for fully an hour the audience was held spellbound by the presentation of truth after truth in the eloquent manner of which the doctor is capable of using. It was a powerful sermon, well delivered, and it is the general verdict that there was no mistake in having Doctor Yocum preach at this important hour of the day. The audience was large, the auditorium being well filled. The interval between this and the afternoon service showed that a great many were present, as the parks were well filled. At 1:30 the regular camp ground Sunday school was held, and many visitors were present.

At 2:30 Rev. Dr. J. W. Hill, sr., preached from the text: "And this also we wish, even your perfection." He said, in part: Paul was a model preacher—an ideal preacher. He was a great master builder—an affectionate human being—not an old dried up bachelor, as many think. He was a perfectionist in the true sense of the word. He taught going on to perfection. In all his works he urged on his hearers to go to perfection. He then proceeded to give his idea of what is meant by perfection, and the teachings of the M. E. church on the subject. It is not infallibility. It means a perfect heart, no wicked ways, loyalty to God, cleanliness, purity, saving from sin. It does not mean that we get where we can't sin, but where we won't sin. It does not mean maturity. As soon as we get mature, we begin to decay. We will not get above temptation.

The better we are the more severely we are tempted. The devil does not tempt those he already has in his power. In short, Christian perfection is perfect love. Perfect love comes from a pure heart. It is extermination of the old man. Man does the volitional and God does the enabling act. Holiness is the habit of agreeing with God. Say no to the devil and yes to God, and God will put us through. The doctor has the habit of saying many quaint, but good things, for instance, Christianity is like riding a bicycle; you have to go to get off. It is hard to serve God on the halves. Some refuse to get more religion because they have so much trouble with what little they have. You cannot get converted and bottle it up.

At the close of the afternoon sermon, Rev. Boyer, president of the West Virginia Conference Seminary, was introduced, and he spoke for some time on the advantages of a Christian education, and urged all the young people to attend the conference seminary. After this, without any recess, the young people's meeting was held by Mrs. Hill. Thus, for four hours quite a number were in continuous session, and to their credit be it said many endured it all without murmuring. But this should not occur. There should be at least a number of recesses between the various services.

At night, after a song and prayer service, Dr. J. Wesley Hill preached to a very large congregation from the text: "For now ye see through a glass darkly, but then face to face. Now I know in part, but then I shall know even as I am known." Some of the points made by him were as follows: These are the words of the great apostle of the Gentiles. He handles this subject with great skill. He declares to us that knowledge is partial, while love is complete. Science is fleeting, while love is everlasting. Theology is fragmentary, love is perfect. We now see as in an enigma. We wander about through its mazes, and only now and then get a faint glimpse of light.

At best we see darkly in this life. We only know in part. We cannot measure the infinite limits of the universe. We have not the facilities to do so. We only catch a slight glimpse now and then of the infinite. The speaker thanked God though that we know a little. We gained the vantage ground from which we can look out over the great field of truth. We have these old landmarks of truth revealing to us our relationship to each other and to God. We see darkly, but see enough to lead right if we pay attention and seek for more light. Infidelity, says the Bible, is not the will of God because it is mysterious. But the argument is not valid, because we see enough to guide us right. But the Bible is a revelation of great truths. They stand out all along the way, illuminating the ages. If revelation is false because it is a mystery, then all nature is false, because it is a mystery of mysteries. No one attempts to explain the mystery of gravitation, but we acknowledge it is a fact. So with revelation. Along with its mysteries we find everything that can be found anywhere else; history, poetry, logic, oratory or any other department of literature—we find it all here. But it is no use to try to report the sermon, for the reporter forgets his business as he listens to the doctor's burning eloquence. The largest congregation of the meeting listened to it. At the close an altar service, full of power, was held, and all engaged in it had a great uplift.

The services for to-day are as follows:

9:30 a. m.—Pentecostal service, led by Dr. J. W. Hill.

10:30 a. m.—Rev. Beddow, of Cameron.

2:30 p. m.—Young People's Meeting, led by Mrs. Hill.

7:30 p. m.—Preaching by Rev. Starkey, of Minneapolis.

"A MODEL WOMAN"

The Topic of an Interesting Discourse by Rev. C. M. Oliphant at the First Christian Church Yesterday.

"A Model Woman" was the theme of an interesting discourse delivered yesterday morning at the First Christian church, by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Oliphant, who pictured the ideal woman in a serious, and at times, a light vein. His text was taken from Proverbs 31:10, and embraced the words: "A virtuous woman."

There are different conceptions of womanly idealism, said Rev. Mr. Oliphant. Some search for beauty of face; others, beauty of form. But the true beauty was of the mind, heart and character. This character contained the elements of chastity, modesty, humility and discretion. Coming to his text, "a virtuous woman," the speaker defined it to mean a strong woman, he holding to the idea of virtue signifying strength as was contained in the original meaning of the word, as it came from the Latin. This strength is of three kinds.

First, there is the strength of head; not headstrong, but intellectual; in other words, being possessed of discretion and decision. After elaborating on these points, Mr. Oliphant took up the strength of hand, and quoted Paul's words concerning woman, "a keeper at home."

A woman was more than a mere cook or servant. She should look to the moral and spiritual interests of home. Along this line, Mr. Oliphant spoke of a woman, who is now conducting a social reform convention in Pennsylvania, yet had never spent any time trying to reform her husband from drunkenness.

A wife originally meant a weaver, continued the speaker, getting this name through doing a weaver's work at home. A good wife will weave the elements of character into her husband, was a thought expressed by Mr. Oliphant. He then cited three things he had read recently, which told what a woman should and should not be. She should be a small by keeping to her house, but not like a snail, which carried everything on her back. That is she shouldn't "put all her money on her back" for clothes. Secondly, she should be like an echo, responding when spoken to, yet should not be like an echo, having "the last word." Finally, she should initiate the town hall, she should be a regular, but not like the town clock, heard all over the city. These applications provoked amused twinkles from Rev. Mr. Oliphant's auditors.

A wife should share in the honors bestowed on her husband, and the speaker cited Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, who refused an earldom because his wife couldn't share the title. The English people arranged this matter happily by conferring on his wife the title of viscountess. The third division of his discourse related to strength of heart and the idea was developed of the power woman was in church—she was the heart-power. Dr. Adam Clark had said one woman was equal to seven men, and one-half man in a church for work, but the speaker held that this ratio would admit of variations. Concluding, a model woman's power in church work was highly praised; such a woman with Christ's likeness would assert herself in the home, society and the church. She would work in every line of church work calling for the best of womanhood and do so with rare benefits to the world.

DEATH OF A HEROINE.

Mrs. Emilie Krieger was Endeavoring to Save the Lives of Three Little Children When Saturday's Fatal Accident Befell her.

Mrs. Emilie Krieger died the death of a heroine. The frightful injuries she received Saturday in Wheeling Park, came while she was endeavoring to save three little girls whom she believed to be in the path of the runaway team. The motherly instinct moved her to take the awful risk of even the loss of her own life. To her memory all honor is due.

The accident occurred Saturday morning. A two horse team of the Reymann Brewing Company had drawn up at the main entrance to the Casino enclosure. Mr. and Mrs. Krieger, at the time, were standing nearby. Suddenly they heard the team start off, and Mr. Krieger ran after the horses via the main gate, while Mrs. Krieger went out through the other gate in time to intercept the horses near the watering trough on the main drive. She endeavored to stop the runaway by pulling hard on the brake lever, and seemed to be partially successful, but in some manner her dress caught in the wheel and in an instant the unfortunate woman was thrown to the ground and received such terrible injuries that she died at 4:10 o'clock in the afternoon. Several physicians were in attendance, but no human aid could avail to save the brave little woman's life.

The children to save whom Mrs. Krieger ventured so far beyond the bounds of prudence were those of Mr. B. S. McClure, who were driving along the main driveway in a pony team near the scene of the accident. Happily for them, they had turned aside into another driveway, else they might have been run down by the runaway.

Mrs. Krieger was the wife of Superintendent Ernest Krieger, of the park, and she was well known to thousands of Wheeling people who have frequented the park, and who have been the recipients of her kindnesses on many occasions, not excepting the newspaper people who were always well looked after by Mrs. Krieger on Press Day. The funeral arrangements were completed yesterday. The funeral will occur from the residence of her brother, Mr. Charles Kraft, opposite the park, on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to which friends of the family are invited. The interment will follow at Greenwood. Special cars will leave the city station via the Wheeling & Elm Grove at 2 o'clock.

BELMONT ASSEMBLY

Holds a Regular Meeting—A Report on the Late Strike.

The Belmont Trades and Labor Assembly met at Bellairs yesterday afternoon with President C. A. James in the chair and Secretary C. H. Smith at his desk. Credentials of new delegates were received and passed upon. The committee on the position of the Belmont Assembly in the late street car strike made a report, explaining and defending their action as being regular and proper, and refusing in emphatic terms the reports sent out that they are unfriendly to organized labor. In fact the explanation was clear and forceful and places the Belmont Assembly in the most friendly attitude to the real interests of organized labor. The report was unanimously adopted. It was signed by Thos. L. Lewis, Albert J. Crouse and J. Cecil.

The contract for the labor day picnic grounds was read and confirmed. The following aides have been appointed by Chief Marshal John A. Cecil: John A. Moore, Frank McCarthy, George Hill, Martin's Ferry; Thomas L. Lewis, A. J. Crouse, Ed. Parsons, F. J. McMillen, Bridgeport; G. W. Curtis, Bellaire.

Heatherington's band will furnish the music for the demonstration.

ABOUT DUE TO STOP.

The Upper Ohio has Reached a Stage Bordering on Unprecedented Lowness—Only Three Boats are Running now.

BOATS LEAVING TO-DAY.

Parkersburg—ARGAND, 11 a. m.

Clarington—LEROY, JR., 3:30 p. m.

BOATS LEAVING TO-MORROW.

Parkersburg—H. K. BEDFORD, 11 a. m.

Clarington—LEROY, JR., 3:30 p. m.

The Argand reached this port last evening from Parkersburg, and will clear for below at 11 a. m. The Leroy, Jr., will follow at 3:30 p. m. for Clarington.

It is understood the government engineers will take advantage of the present extreme low water to make the soundings preliminary to the location of the Wheeling locks and dam below Benwood.

The Leroy and Ruth went to the bank at Parkersburg, and in their turn will receive repairs on the docks at that port. The Leroy goes on this week. The Bayne laid up Saturday at Steubenville and the Urania and Jewel are at Marietta.

The upper Ohio has reached a stage bordering on unprecedented lowness, the marks at 6 p. m. showing only 1 foot 11 inches, and still falling. There appears no prospect of water relief and the stage here will doubtless reach under the foot mark. Perhaps, even the low water record of two years ago will be broken.

Navigation out of Wheeling is now represented by only three packets, the H. K. Bedford and the Argand in the Wheeling-Parkersburg trade, and a little Big Sandy boat, which is due to arrive to-day to enter the Wheeling-Clarington trade in the place of the Leroy.

The Bedford and Argand draw very little water, not over 17 inches, and can stay in the push until the river goes under eighteen inches.

River Telegrams.

PITTSBURGH—River 23 feet and falling; clear and warm.

OIL CITY—River at low water mark; clear and warm.

WARREN—River at low water mark; clear and warm.

MORGANTOWN—River 7 feet 6 inches and stationary; clear and warm.

STUBENVILLE—River 1 foot 9 inches and falling; clear and warm.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., August 20.—Thomas J. Burleigh, of Harper's Ferry, who shot William Smith, the negro from Frederick, Md., was given a hearing before Justice Gallaher yesterday afternoon and discharged. The evidence clearly showed that Smith was the aggressor and undertook to knock Mr. Burleigh in the head with a stone, and then went so far as to throw one into the saloon kept by him. A negro man from Frederick who was held for knocking Smith in the head, was also discharged.

Died from his Injuries.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., August 20.—A. J. Gooch, nephew of general contractor Gooch on the West Virginia Short Line railroad, died this evening at 4 o'clock from injuries sustained by a premature powder explosion last Monday.

GERMANY'S ATTITUDE

Towards America—The Cause of the Failure of the Meat Inspection Bill—Agrarian Movement.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 20.—Baron Von Herman, agricultural expert of the German embassy is just back from his visit to Germany during which period he had opportunity to observe the progress of the meat inspection bill in the reichstag.

When asked as to the status of the meat inspection bill he said: "The bill was brought before the reichstag, last spring, but a strong opposition developed among Agrarian members on the ground that the government measures were too friendly to the United States. And you will remember that about that time a provision was placed in the agricultural appropriation bill passed in this country giving the secretary of agriculture authority to exclude such imports as he considered injurious to health. This provision was directed against certain German products such as toys which, it was said, might be injurious to health because of the paint on them. At all events this provision caused a bad feeling in Germany and made it more difficult for the government to secure the passage of the meat inspection bill. It was referred by the reichstag to a committee which had full power to determine what course was to be adopted. The committee reported adversely and that was equivalent to a refusal by the reichstag to take any action. It may be brought forward again as there really ought to be some modification of the present law. But it is too early to say what the future plans will be as the reichstag has adjourned until November. It is probable, however, that the government will consult with the leaders and see if some understanding can be reached on the measure."

Concerning the Agrarian movement Baron Von Herman said: "It is very strong and is turning its attention to the interests of the agricultural classes of Germany. The sugar question is essentially an Agrarian one. Our sugar interests are seriously injured by the tax and countervailing duties in the American tariff law and the Agrarians hold that this not only prejudices their industry, but that it is a discrimination against them. They feel it most because it touches their pockets and the results of their labor, but above this is the consideration that the system is not right, being a discrimination. They contend that the question should be dealt with on broad grounds. In the final analysis it comes down to this simple question: 'Shall there be a development of the cane industry of uncivilized, semi-barbarous countries, or shall there be a continued use of the sugar products of civilized countries, which are able to buy something in return?'"

On the whole Baron Herman seems to think that these pending questions can be solved to the satisfaction of both sides. Both nations in his judgment, are too far advanced not to see that their interests lie in the development of their already existing trade and not, as he says, "in building up a Chinese wall against the outside world."

Major Harrison Ill of Fever.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, August 20.—Major Russell B. Harrison, inspector general, is critically ill with yellow fever. The disease has been progressing for three days, although not pronounced yellow fever until this afternoon. The case is the first to occur at Cristó, whether headquarters was removed last month to escape infection. Of late the quarantine rules have been relaxed, owing to the fact that there have been no new cases in the city, and officers from headquarters have been in the habit of coming to Santiago daily, returning to headquarters at night. Major Harrison has been isolated, but not brought to the yellow fever hospital.

Iron Miners Demands.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Aug. 20.—A mass meeting of iron miners was held at Ishpeming to-day, at which President Wasley, of the mine workers' union, advised the men to demand an immediate raise in wages. The miners at section 21 mine, Oliver Mining Company, are still out. The company says now the men must accept the Norrie scale and Norrie hours, ten a day, instead of eight, if they come back. The Norrie scale is fifteen cents a day over the Marquette range.

MARTIN'S FERRY NEWS.

The Daily Chronicle of Wheeling's Progressive Neighbor.

Saturday morning at 8:45 o'clock, a bad wreck occurred on the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad at Patton's run, four miles north of this city. It was the through freight from Cleveland, running at a high rate of speed, when the second car from the engine left the track, caused by a broken flange. The car was thrown across the track at right angles, being badly damaged, together with the three that followed. About one hundred feet of track was torn up. A large force of men were put to work repairing the track and replacing the cars in their original position. The accident happened at a very bad time, as the 2,000 excursionists from Massillon to Wheeling had to be transferred at that point, making it late when they arrived at their journey's end.

Saturday evening at the home of her parents on "The Heights," Miss Margaret Smith in a most delightful manner entertained a party of friends. Twenty conundrums from the subject "Kaleidoscope Kate" formed a guessing contest which proved to be highly interesting and which resulted in the prize being awarded to Miss Lenore Drennen for the proper solution of the greater number.

If the Ohio Valley Bowling League, which is talked of in Wheeling, materializes, this city no doubt will be represented by one of the strongest teams in the league. The proposed league comprises the towns of Steubenville, Wellsburg, Wheeling, Martin's Ferry, Benwood and Bellaire. This city has many good bowlers and would make a favorable showing in any league.

When the congressional convention meets here September 12, it will be discovered that the entertainment committee has done its work well and that ample accommodations have been provided in central and convenient locations for delegates and visitors. When the people take hold it leaves no room for doubt.

There was a lively Sunday scrap yesterday, the artists being William Parsons and Dan McGuigan. The latter gave Marshal Lindemuth and Officer Ervin quite a chase, and he tried to catch the river in a skiff, but they nailed him. Another arrest of the day was Danny Callahan, on a disorderly charge.

The founding discovered at the home of William Miller in Clark's addition last Saturday night week, which has been agitating the minds of our city officials, died Saturday evening. The funeral occurred yesterday afternoon and the remains were interred in Riverside cemetery.

Rev. John Giffen, a returned missionary from Egypt, preached at the United Presbyterian church yesterday. There will be no services in that house on next Sunday, but the following Sabbath their new pastor, Rev. Arch. Robinson, of Allegheny, will be on hand.

The lawn fete given by the Presbyterian Sunday school Saturday evening, was a very enjoyable affair and about $5 was cleared, which will be used for the Holiday memorial window in the new church.

Mrs. Fred Cope, at her home on Glenn's Run, back of town, will entertain a number of young people from Mr. Pleasant Colerain and this city, Thursday evening.

Saturday, John Mader, of Second street, received a letter from Zurich, Switzerland, dated July 25, announcing the death of his mother, Mrs. Barbara Mader.

John Kreusch left Saturday night for Cincinnati, where he has accepted a position as carpenter with the "How Hopper Was Laid Tracked" company.

Evan Reese leaves to-day for New York, where he sails Wednesday on the steamer Majestic for Liverpool, England, where he will visit relatives.

Mrs. Anna Hathaway, who has been the guest of her brother, Samuel Anthony, on Broadway, returns to her home in Pittsburgh to-day.

About twenty-five people from this city took in the Niagara Falls excursion Saturday, over the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railroad.

Miss Lizzie Gilmore, who has been the guest of Miss Bert Blackford, on North Fourth street, returns to her home in Washington, Pa., to-day.

Kittie Marie and Charlie Hall, who have been visiting relatives here this summer, leave Wednesday
